

Exhale the Longing

Jamie Lipe

Looking out over the future I know You're waiting there
Gathering dreams inside Your glory, a story untold
About a girl who was made to walk on water and greater than this
To look deep in the unseen of Your presence and follow You there

I want to run with You
Where earth and heaven collide
In the wide open spaces of Your heart
You're calling me to be free
As I exhale the longing of my heart
The deep is satisfied

Never want to despise where you lead me 'cause You see the end of time
There's a scroll in heaven that is written with the race marked 'only mine'
About a boy who was made to bring down giants, defiance torn down
And the glory of God lifted higher
Oh fire come down!